

General Information

Name: Carmen Scheibenbogen

Affiliation: Institute for Med. Immunology
Charité, Berlin

carmen.scheibenbogen@charite.de

<http://immunologie.charite.de/>

Education

1990 - 1998	Residency at the Dept. of Hämatologie, Onkologie und Rheumatologie, Universität Heidelberg
1994	Board Certification for Internal Medicine
1997	Board Certification for Hematology/Oncology
2008	FachImmunologin

Present position

Full professor and Deputy Chair at the Institute of Medical Immunology, Charité

Head of the Outpatient Clinic for Adult Immunodeficiencies at Charité

Scientific and Social Impact

- Publication of > 150 papers in peer-reviewed journals
- Head of a research group, expertise: immune monitoring, immunodeficiency, CFS/ME
- Clinical Trial Experience: IIT and GCP clinical trials (phase I through III), Clinical trial immune monitoring, member of various DSMB of clinical trials
- Member of the German Society of Immunology and German Society of Hematology/Oncology
- Director of FOCIS Center of Excellence (FCE) Charité
- Principal Investigator of the Platform Immunology of the BCRT (Berlin Brandenburg Center for Regenerative Therapy)
- Founder of the Charité Fatigue Center in 2016

Biosketch

Carmen Scheibenbogen is MD and full time professor at Charité University Medicine Berlin and Deputy Chair at the Institute of Medical Immunology. She has a clinical training in Hematology, Oncology and Immunology and takes care of patients with immunodeficiency, CFS/ME and cancer fatigue. Her research interest is CFS/ME, Immunodeficiency, and Cancer Immunology. She is active in teaching immunology and has been supervising numerous MD and PhD projects.

